Current Scholars:

Three of four Critical Language Scholarship winners are also Top Scholars; a fourth is an alternate.

. . . . Three Top Scholars have won Critical Language Scholarships for study this summer: McNair Scholars Madison Bradley and Kylee Yturalde and Stamps Scholar Avery Kral. Another University student, Nicolas Ferguson, was a fourth winner. A fourth, McNair Scholar Tyler Quehl, was named an alternate. The Critical Language Scholarship (CLS) program is part of a U.S. government effort to expand the number of Americans studying and mastering critical foreign languages. CLS scholars gain critical language and cultural skills that enable them to contribute to U.S. economic competitiveness and national security. Learn more about these winners and more, here:

Kelley Powell, McNair Scholar 2021, is a new drum major for the Carolina Band

. . . . In March, the Carolina Band announced drum majors for the 2019 season. Powell is a current sophomore majoring in choral and instrumental education, and fun fact – she’s a PADI certified scuba diver.

Top Scholar seniors are also Outstanding Seniors

. . . . This year, 17 of the 132 Outstanding Seniors are Top Scholars, or 13%. They were all recognized at the annual Outstanding Senior Award Ceremony on Monday, March 25.

Alumni:
